

If you want your tablecloth to drape down to the floor, you will need to accurately measure the diameter of your table, measure the lengths of points one, two and three (as shown on the diagram above) and add all three measurements together